Queens Lose 5-2 at Home; English Stars

By DICK JOSEPH
(Daily Staff Writer)

The McGill senior pucksters climbed into sole possession of first place in the intercollegiate standings by virtue of their 5-2 victory over Queen's on Friday night at Kingston and Toronto's inability to do more than gain a 4-all deadlock with the University of Montreal at the Verdun Auditorium Saturday evening. This leaves the Redmen one clear point above the Blues and needing only a victory in this week's crucial clash with the men from the good city to clinch the championship.

sterling display of puckhandling to defeat a hard fighting Gael sextet at the Jock Hart Memorial Arena. Carrying the play all the way, they outshot the yellow shirted home team 25 to 15 and could easily have doubled the score, but for the brilliant puckstopping of Norm Urquhart, who was promoted by coach George Patterson to replace Dave Wood in the Gael's nets.

The Redmen had a lot of English on the old ball as rookie Keith, playing in only his second intercollegiate contest, connected for two clever tallies and assisted in a third. Gegroe Hale, Cy Beigler and Jack Miller were the other Red scorers, while Blake Davis and Dick Davidson were the only Queensmen to beat Jack Gelineau, who played in his usual scintillating manner.

The Presbyterian pucksters showed great improvement over the week previous and started many dangerous forays that might have clicked but for the smart blocking of the Red defence who played heads up hockey all the way. The "dynamite twins," Doug Heron and Bob Broderick, were especially effective.

Despite the few penalties, the game was rough and rugged with the Gael rather prone to slugging from behind, while rule infractions went unpunished. The Redmen were content to stay out of trouble and not risk injury which might keep them out of the big game next week. A short-lived tiff between Cy Beigler and Rene Lefebvre helped liven up the third

Clarkson and St. Lawrence Up 66-51, 68-35

By PERC TANNENBAUM
(Daily Staff Writer)

En Route from Canton, N.Y.—"Well, we were out-conditioned all the way. That was the difference in both tilts." With those words Coach Lou Davies summed up the plight of the Red and White cagers in their weekend journey south of the border. Clarkson and St. Lawrence were the victors by the respective scores of 66-51 and 68-35.

Perhaps the sole bright spot on the trip for the McGill boys was the witnessing of one of the top notch games of the season on Saturday afternoon when they saw the underdog Clarkson crew put one over on the highly-rated Vermont squad by a 5-point margin. It was a thriller all the way, and a treat to watch.

CONDITIONING COUNTS
But that is neither here nor there as my learned chum, Wilber the Wise Man from Winoski would say. For the Redmen, the trip was a lesson on conditioning, especially in the game against the Larries in Canton. This tilt saw the McGill team taking an early lead only to have it wiped out, (but good!) as the home team came into their own forcing the visitors to play their type of ball.

The Davies Doodlers gave a better account of themselves in the Clarkson contest, especially George Davidson, who tallied 24 points, the highest individual effort for a Redmen over these last few seasons, (21 points) gave the Tech. crew the deciding margin.

SLUFF IN RUFF

In the St. Lawrence tilt, the Redmen met up with some rough, tough play, and that, coupled with some very poor officiating, placed the Montrealers at a disadvantage. The Larries played a fast, hard-driving type of ball, which as the game progressed, found the McGillians unable to cope with the slashing play.

Will Vote for AGEUM Pres.

L'Association Generale des Etudiants de l'Universite de Montreal will hold its annual election for President for the academic year 1946-1947, on Monday, February 17. Every faculty elects a candidate for this position.

The Association, which on the U. of M. campus is the equivalent to the Student Administrative Council of all other universities, is essentially aiming to serve the student body.

The constitution calls for a Council and an Executive composed of a President, Vice-President, Secretary, Assistant-Secretary, and a Treasurer. The Board of Directors includes in addition to the Executive, delegates from every faculty and the Presidents of each subsidiary society and association. The decisions made by the Executive must be approved by the Board at the next monthly meeting.

ATTENTION

The Daily will publish its final issue about March 11. Would you like to come down and get some experience in newspaper writing? This appeal is addressed to all would be publicity agents, pressure group artists and people interested in the mechanics of writing stories for a paper. So it is a rag. Nevertheless there is a lot of purely formal stuff that has to be known for the specialized types of story in the Daily, news story, human interest story, even sports story. Perhaps your deathless prose written for The Daily will result in a journalistic career. It did for Lionel Shapiro, Gerald Clark and others. Anyway it's good experience. Applicants just come on down and we'll put you to work.

Staniforth Is Star as Reds Drop Crown

(Special to the Daily.)

Hanover, N.H., February 16. — The Dartmouth ski team swept to victory by a wide margin in the 37th annual Winter Carnival Ski meet held at Hanover on Friday and Saturday. The big Green squad seemed to have regained their pre-war winning ways as they led a pack of seven Eastern colleges with a total score of 588.5 Middlebury coming in second with 569.0, while McGill's Redmen, triumphant in last year's Carnival, were in third spot with 556.9. New Hampshire, Vermont, Harvard and West Point followed in that order.

PERFECT CONDITIONS

Friday dawned a perfect Carnival day and 39 competitors raced the Moose Mountain downhill in the early morning sunshine. Three Swiss visitors and ten college skiers took advantage of the fast powder snow conditions to clip seconds off the existing course record of 1.22.8 set by Malcolm McLane last year. Karl Molitor, Switzerland's No. 1 racer negotiated the mile-long course in an amazing 1.11.9. Team-mate Paul Valeur and Eddie Rominger, racing hors concours were close behind, while Phil Puckner, captain of Dartmouth, barely edged out Don Staniforth, McGill's captain, for top spot among the college boys.

Their times were 1:15.1 and 1:16.7 respectively.

REDMEN CLOSE

The team standings gave Dartmouth the edge in this event as they took first, third and fifth spots but the Redmen were hot on their heels as John Tyler took fourth place and Art Bruneau came in ninth.

Following a noon hour of changing wax under the direction of coach Lugli Foeger, as the snow warmed under the brilliant sun, the McGill team moved over to Oak Hill where the slalom was being held. It looked as if the

Cohen and Mallory to Address IRC Meeting

Professor Cohen, lecturer in International Law, and Professor Mallory, of the Economics and Political Science Department, will be guest speakers at a meeting of the International Relations Club to be held on Wednesday in the Music Room of the Union commencing at 8.00 o'clock.

Their topic will be "International Law and International Politics." They will present their views and how to find a method of how to fit one idea into the other.

A discussion period will follow the meeting, which is to be informal.

Chivalry Vs. Equality Topic Of EDS Debate

Another debate between RVC and the Engineers will be held today at 1 p.m. in Room 33 of the Engineering Building. The topic is: "Resolved that women prefer chivalry to equality." The speakers from RVC have insisted on upholding the negative. Engineers Don Coates and Stu Green will speak for the affirmative. Don is one of the speakers who will represent McGill at Vermont at the end of the month.

The E.D.S. hope to try something new in the way of judging. Normally three judges are invited to render a decision. Printed forms are available to aid them in alloting points. These forms suggest a manner of breaking down the marks, and cover such items as stance, weight of argument, etc. Today each member of the audience will receive one of these forms and will have the opportunity of judging the debate. The decision will come from the floor.

Four Prominent Speakers To Discuss Peace Problems

By SLC
Last week, in Paris, 18 months after V-J Day and the defeat of Germany and Japan and their satellites by the United Nations, 22 nations signed the first peace treaties with five former belligerent nations. This concludes the first stage of the official peace-making. The second, a peace treaty with Germany, is now in the process of making, and Japan's is still to be started.

While the world records this first official act towards the settlement of the war that was won on the battlefield, there is talk, particularly on the North American continent of another — 3rd — World War. However, not only is there talk of war, but there are at present wars and civil strife in a number of areas of the world. There is civil war in China—with millions of men on both sides engaged in conflict. There is war in Indo-China between native Vietnamese striving for independence, and the French. There is an uneasy truce in Indonesia, between the movement for independence, and the Dutch. There is conflict between the Jews and Arabs in Palestine on one side, and the British on the other. In Greece civil war continues, while British troops stand guard.

The 2nd World War which saw the defeat of Fascism on the battlefield has also seen arise a powerful movement of independence in the colonies of semi-colonies; has brought about many changes in the lives of the people of Europe. The War won by the United effort of many Nations, produced in the United Nations, a new unity of the peoples for the maintenance of peace in the world.

In all these changes, in the desire for maintenance of peace, in the struggle for independence of the colonial peoples, labor in all countries is playing a major role today. Labor has the greatest interest in the maintenance of peace. Labor has the most to lose, and nothing to gain, from war.

Players' Club To Present 'Dear Ruth'

The McGill Players Club last week put on a benefit showing of "Command Performance" at the Montreal Military Hospital. Prior to the presentation, a group of entertainers from burlesque fame gave a performance that was greatly enjoyed by the audience, but, considering the competition that preceded it, "Command Performance" was well received. Leon Davicho and Seymour Spector took individual honours by their impromptu ad libbing, which was very much appreciated by the audience.

At present the Players Club is working on Norman Krasna's famous play "Dear Ruth." This promises to be one of the major theatrical productions to be seen in the campus this year, as "Dear Ruth" has never before been produced in Canada.

The play is being directed by Jack Pinguet, a very prominent name in amateur dramatic circles around Montreal. From all appearances of the rehearsals and staging, Mr. Pinguet is doing a very notable job. "Dear Ruth" will be presented in the Union Ballroom March 12 to 15 inclusive, and the tickets, which are very reasonably priced with special students' rates, will go on sale next week.

STUDENT COUNSELLOR'S OFFICE

Mr. E. C. Knowles will interview student veterans in Room 15 of the Arts Building on Tuesday and Thursday of this week, February 18 and 20 between the hours of 9-45 and 12-30, and 2-00 and 5-00. The office will remain open, as usual, throughout the week.

Stop Gambling At Hart House

(By The Canadian University Press)

Toronto, Feb. 16.—There'll be no more gambling at Hart House. After several attempts by the Board of Stewards to put a stop to the gambling that has been taking place in the card room of Hart House, they have decided to close the room permanently to card players and convert it into an extra common room.

The room was closed earlier in the session for a period of ten days without any apparent effect and as a result the Board of Stewards has felt forced to forbid card playing anywhere in Hart House with the exception of the Bridge Club which meets once a week.

Plans are underway for the conversion of a small common room into a record room under the jurisdiction of the Music Committee.

Films on Peru, Africa, India to be Shown

Four interesting pictures will be shown by the Film Society this Tuesday at 5 p.m. in room 250 of the Biological Building.

The first of these, "African Tribes," is a film about four tribes in East Africa, the Belgian Congo, and Kenya Colony, while the second, "African Fauna," tells of wild animals in the same region.

"Inca of Peru" relates the recent and ancient history of a tribe of Indians. The last film, "Cocoanut Tree," is about the importance of the cocoanut tree in relation to India's economy.

UBC Presidency Candidates Find It Pays to Advertise

By ELIZABETH PAXTON

It pays to advertise! Or so it would seem on looking through the issues of the Ubyesey directly preceding the recent election of Grant Livingstone to the presidency of the University of British Columbia's AMS, a society which corresponds to McGill's Students' Executive Council.

Of the three candidates (Livingstone, Cliff Greer and Bill McKay), Greer, seems to be the only one who lacked the intelligence, initiative or what have you to keep his name in the public eye by such methods as paid advertising, rapping newspapers in general, and tirading against drinking and card playing on the UBC campus.

Bill McKay's attempts to keep his name before the students included a fiery letter to the Editor of The Ubyesey accusing him of misrepresentation of facts, as well as slurring the paper's news coverage and the "drive of its columnists". Admittedly, the resultant editorial and answering letter from the editor were not too helpful, for the number of votes polled by that candidate was very small. However, he did try.

Grant Livingstone's more successful newspaper campaign included the signing of a letter printed in an advertisement by an insurance company. Certainly, the letter was signed by Livingstone in his official capacity as president of the local branch of the Canadian Legion. It was incredibly well-timed. So was the accusation of a Toronto representative to the NCSV—it arrived just in time for Mr. Livingstone to spend three quarters of a column refuting his arguments.

Add to this one quarter of a page devoted to platforms and pictures of the candidates, another column or so for loud praises of each candidate by his supporters, another column given over to a summary of their histories to date . . . we wonder that there is any space for other news.

Perhaps elections aren't taken as seriously here . . . perhaps our candidates are not as clever as some of those at UBC. However, gentlemen, it is interesting to note that Greer, the man who didn't believe in advertising polled a large number of votes, while McKay who would be infamous as long as he could be famous . . . polled 300 votes!

Revue to Go To Military Hospital Wed.

The Red and White Revue is presenting a special performance next Wednesday, February 19, at the Montreal Military Hospital, it was announced yesterday by a member of the Production Board.

A rehearsal of the whole show will be held on the same day. It is being held in the Union Ballroom commencing at 5 o'clock, and all members of the cast are requested to be present.

Following the rehearsal special buses will be waiting to transport the cast and crew to the Hospital, and the curtain will go up at 7:50 sharp. The cast will have to be there at 7:00 o'clock in order to get changed and get makeup on.

The Producer, Eugene Jousse, hoped that most of the show would be able to be presented, and stated that Mr. Oneson, who was making all arrangements as far as the Hospital is concerned, thought that the college humour, and topical jokes would go over very well with the audience.

Chicago Univ. Gives Awards

Chicago, (Special) — More than 100 scholarships, valued at $108,000 and ranging from $420 up to $1,000 a year, will be granted in nationwide competition by the College of the University of Chicago for the 1947-48 school year to students who have completed 2, 3, or 4 years of high school. This was announced today by Robert M. Hutchins, chancellor of the university.

All awards are made for one year, but may be renewed if academic performance is sufficiently high. The ultimate value of a scholarship may range up to $4,000.

The competition will be held April 19; applications must be completed and filed at the university not later than April 1, 1947. In all cases, the application for a scholarship must be accompanied by an application for admission to the College, including the payment of the five-dollar application fee.

The scholarships are awarded from the University of Chicago's $376,465 annual budget for aid to students attending the university. Two of the 62 metropolitan cities designated as centres for the test are in Canada, Montreal and Toronto.

BUP Dispatch Calls Daily Communist

A report that there is a disproportionate Communist hold on campus affairs and the campus newspaper at McGill was carried across Canada last night by the British United Press. The gist of the story revolved around a supposed anti-Communist reaction which will come to the fore in the coming campus elections. The report arose from the remarks made by a recent speaker to the Newman Club, details of which were not available.

Allan Knight, Daily editor, declared as "absurd" any reference to the Communist infiltration of The Daily. "The columns of The Daily are available to every political view in the Club Notices, Letters to the Editor and Political Comment column. We make no discrimination against any one outlook nor does The Daily espouse any particular cause," he said.

Alec Ross, President of the Students Society, was not available for comment. The topic will probably be discussed at the meeting of the Students Executive Council tonight.

Ambassador To Attend 'Bal Du Mardi-Gras'

Patronized by His Excellency Count Jean de Hauteclouque, French Ambassador to Ottawa, and by the Countess de Hauteclouque; by Principal C. F. James and Mrs. James, among others, the Bal Du Mardi-Gras given by the French Society will take place tomorrow, Tuesday, at 9 p.m., in the Union Ballroom.

The decorations for the occasion will be the result of the artistic efforts of a group under the direction of Thomas Pickup. Archie Etienne and his band will provide the dance music until 1 a.m., and the Master of Ceremonies will be Mr. Xavier Willatte-Battet, former member of the French Resistance Movement.

Then French Society executive wish to give notice that although formal dress or costume is required of the girls, men may wear costume, formal, dress, or a dark-colored lounge suit. This decision was reached when the organizers became aware of the difficulty in securing tuxedos, and also of the substantial slice a rental would make in the allowance of the monthly $60.00 brackets.

Roy Dohn's Martletts To Play

Tonight is the big night for the McGill Radio Workshop as the long-awaited Campus Capers takes to the air waves over station CJAD at 9.05 from the Union Ballroom. The show is open to the general public and the doors will open at 8.30 sharp. They will shut once more at 8.45 at which point a fifteen minute introduction to the proceedings will take place.

At 9.05 the strains of 'The Spirit Neath The Hill' which was written by D'Arcy Shea for the Red and White Revue will mark the official opening of the broadcast. The music will be provided by Roy Dohn and Merry Martlets. The boys in the band, all union men, have graciously donated of their time and effort for the show doing their own orchestrations.

At approximately 9.09 George Powell, announcer of the program, will make his opening lines introducing the audience to mythical Burton College. Then as we enter into the central plot of script writers Vern Quinn's effort, we will meet the stream of characters that exist at the university. Quinn has written a story of the complications which befall Buzz Ferrell, the male lead, as he tries to make a date for Rodney Blair, his book-worm chum. Hal Brock, the campus bigwig, Lippy Snicker, the talkative co-ed, and Pat Paterson, the female lead all contribute to the success of the story.

Around 9.15 Roy Dohn and his Martletts will be back with one of the numbers right of the Hit Parade to be followed three minutes later by a return to the script. The actual members of the cast are chosen already but the names are being kept a dark deep secret for fear that some talent scout from 'By George' or some other such campus show might lure them away. All we can say for the present is that the comedy show will have a distinctly Red and White Revue air as much of the talent was featured in the shows of the past two years.

Meanwhile Director Gerald Charness, producer Conrad Shatner, and CJAD supervisor, Ted Root, have been taking in the proceedings from the controls, watching the audience reaction to the first programme of the Campus Capers programme. To add to their work they must handle, the music for background, the cues for the actors and the control of the controls.

In the audience the critic from Variety will be making notations and the various members of the Radio Committee will be watching the first addition to their program. In the Ballroom, or in the boardroom the Students' Executive Council will have their ears and eyes attuned to the first such venture by students at McGill. Throughout the city numerous radios will be set at 9.00 on the dial as the local citizens listen to the only live English comedy show emanating from a local station.

At 9.30 sharp, the strains of one of the jump numbers of the day will ring down the curtains on the first Campus Capers show. The audience, actors and directorate (Continued on Page 4.)

Have a Cigar!

The heightened interest shown by the student body generally in the forthcoming elections series to indicate that the campaigns will be among the most spirited in recent years. As an outcome of that interest there have been many suggestions that the candidates stump at several election meetings where they will be available to meet the electorate and discuss with them the points of platform and opinion. In his Political Comment article of last Wednesday, Mr. John Sangster condemned the present system of secret meetings and lack of hustings and indicated a feeling which is fairly widespread that "if we are to attain to adult status on the campus, the hustings must come to McGill." If we are to look at the past few elections, at the apathetic feeling toward them taken by the vast majority, at the dissatisfaction felt by many interested students at the way the nominations and voting were handled, then it becomes more apparent that the new tactics be carried into use for the elections on March 5.

Whether or not the practice of electioneering is considered "ungentlemanly" as Mr. Sangster suggests, we do not know. But what is apparent is that the candidates and their backers are waiting for the next man to make a move in that direction. Anyone who is at all familiar with McGill elections will have seen the numerous chats, dinners, small meetings and back-room bickerings which now serve as pre-election activities and which unfortunately are accepted as good taste. Why these negative approaches are more acceptable than the more democratic, more forthright and more healthy open election meetings we cannot see nor agree with. We have seen that the present system will not serve to bring out the mass of voters on election day thus leaving the field open to the more wide-awake and highly organized pressure group.

The issues in the present election are the most serious we have seen in some time as will be more apparent when the various platforms are printed in The Daily later this week or early in the next. If we are to leave the questions hidden or if we allow innuendos and half-truths to sway the voter there will be serious repercussions which will affect all of us in the year or years to come. Such a course would not only be unwise but dangerous. To overcome these methods to a great degree we must urge that the President of the Students Society call meetings once each week for the two weeks from the day nominations close to election day. We also urge the candidates to welcome the limelight and to campaign actively, and to present their views to the campus as a whole at any time which they consider opportune—without forgetting the soapbox. But all of this will be to no avail without the support and the interest of the people who count most—the voters. Make it your business to attend election meetings. Get to know the candidates and their views on various topics. Listen to them and heckle them if you so desire, but don't crawl back into your shell for such an attitude does you and the campus no good.—A.K.

'THE GENTLE PEOPLE'

by Dusty Vineberg

"The Gentle People", which will have its third and last performance tonight in the Y.M.H.A. auditorium, was not presented quite forcefully enough to point its moral. The Y.M.-Y.W.H.A. Little Theatre group chose a play, which, in the words of its author, Irwin Shaw, "is a fable, and therefore deals in symbols and points a moral... I meant to say, 'Once upon a time in Brooklyn, there was a bad man, who imposed upon two very good men and robbed and beat them until one day the very good men could not bear it any longer and hit the bad man over the head and dumped him into New York Bay. Then the two good men lived happily, in a way, ever after. I wouldn't be at all surprised, if there were more to this than meets the eye.'"

However, "The Gentle People" directed by Norman Taviss, with the assistance of Pauline Trehub, seemed to lack the symbolic significance which the author intended, and was never more than the story of individuals. It may be that this lessening of the author's intention is inherent in the play itself. "The Gentle People" was worth seeing for the manner in which individual members of the cast handled their roles.

Sol Cohen as Philip Anagnos, a disillusioned but peacefully timid Greek was very, very good, which is not surprising when we recall his memorable portrayal of the man-servant, Firs, in the Cherry Orchard several years ago. Charles Lewis, as Jonah Goodman, another of the gentle people of the title, was also excellent, and Pauline Trehub, as his wife, Florence, was, as usual, outstanding, although we think that she might have had more assistance from the make-up man. Isabel Weintraub as Stella Goodman, Jonah's daughter, overemphasized her lines, playing the part of the ordinary little working girl, longing for excitement and adventure, with such intensity throughout, that she failed to underline her more dramatic moments. Saul Lerner as Eli Leiber, Stella's suitor, had some good moments, in spite of several awkward ones. The role of Harold Coff, played by Jack Goodson, was a difficult one, which didn't quite come off, but Lammanawitz, played by Henry Gerner, was, we think, excellent.

In addition to its debatable thesis, that force must be met with force, the play has certain physical difficulties which, on the whole, were well handled. One of the scenes takes place in the middle of New York Bay, in which Jack Goodson, as Harold Coff, the gangster, has to be drowned by other members of the cast. It is a considerable feat, we think, to drown anyone with any degree of realism on the Y.M.H.A. stage. There are, in addition, eleven scenes, and all but the three in the last act demand radical changes of scenery, which were noticeably managed with commendable speed and efficiency. The Steeplechase Pier set, Coney Island, with its blue-starred backdrop, the pier, and the boat, looked like the Hans Berens set to which we have become accustomed, but the other sets, notably the living-room of the Goodman home, seemed to lack effective detail. This was probably due, again, to the necessity for quick changes. The Y.M.-Y.W.H.A. Little Theatre Group did not achieve its usual "juicy best" with "The Gentle People".

"BIOGRAPHY"

As the fourth presentation of its present record-breaking season, the Montreal Repertory Theatre has chosen a sparkling comedy of bohemian life in New York, "Biography", by S. N. Behrman, for nine performances starting Thursday, March 6, at the Guy Stret Playhouse.

Featured in this comedy will be Betty Wilson, president of the Junior League, and Montreal's leading comedienne. Miss Wilson will enact the role made famous by Ina Claire, that of Marion Froude, a famous portrait painter and amused connoisseur of men. At the beginning of the play Marion Froude is contemplating publishing her biography, a decision which causes dismay among many of the men who are personally concerned, most important of these being a Senatorial candidate from Tennessee, home state of the blue laws. His attempts to halt the publication constitute the plot of the play, which, however, is no important, the main appeal of the comedy lying in its scintillating dialogue with its sharp satirical overtones.

Supporting Miss Wilson in "Biography" will be John Drexler, student in the drama courses at McGill University, who scored notably in his last two appearances at McGill in "Outward Bound" and "Our Town," and Kenneth Culley, who will be remembered as a very fine Kent in last spring's production of "King Lear" by the Shakespeare Society. Others in the cast are Henry Ramer of the CBC, Pauline Trehub of the Y.M.H.A. Players, Dr. Victor Goldbloom, who was Claudio in the Shakespeare Society's "Much Ado About Nothing," Leonore Osborn, holder of a certificate from the Queen's University Summer School of the Theatre, and Eddie Asselin. Herbert Whitaker is directing.

McGILL STRING QUARTET

Music by Handel, Haydn, Mozart and Beethoven will form the main substance of the sixth of the eight chamber music concerts being sponsored at the Hermitage by the Montreal Festivals and played by the McGill String Quartet under the direction of Alexander Brott. The event, at which Lois Wann, distinguished oboist and soloist with the Griller String Quartet this season, will be featured, is to take place at the Hermitage on Friday, February 21, at 9 p.m.

Another item of special interest, it is felt, is Songs of Contemplation, the composition of Alexander Brott. Mr. Brott is leader of the McGill String Quartet and is also concert Master of Les Concerts Symphoniques. The Songs of Contemplation, scored for oboe solo and string quintet, were recently performed over the network of the CBC in a program series devoted to Canadian music.

The Montreal Festivals chamber music series is to be concluded on April 4 with a special Brahms Memorial concert, with Douglas Clarke as soloist. The seventh concert is to take place on March 14.

AT THE MOVIES

"NOTORIOUS GENTLEMAN"

When this picture opens, we are witnessing the final moments in the life of a gay, young roue of the Thirties. After ten years of being a failure in everything, his destiny is fulfilled while crossing a mined bridge during World War II. Despite this seemingly grim opening, and other tragic moments towards the end, this film is, throughout, brilliant comedy — tragi-comedy, if you like.

We follow the progress of this wealthy English blade from boyhood during World War I, being "sent down" from Oxford, coffee-growing in South America to motor racing and a gay round of pleasures in London, Monte Carlo and Vienna. All this well seasoned, of course, with wine, women and song. Indeed there is such gaiety and "joie de vivre" in all this, that we are made to condone anything he does and actually are moved when he dies a hero.

The principal honors of course go to Rex Harrison who delivers the very amusing lines of the Notorious Gentleman with sparkling brilliance. The supporting cast is excellent and the one dramatic role is sympathetically portrayed by Lilli Palmer. Margery Hohnston plays the role of his father's secretary, and Godfrey Tearle that of the indulgent father. Others include David Horne as his college friend, and Guy Middleton as a boon companion.

A few more films like this one, and Britain will have proved her mastery in all fields of cinematic art. —R.T.

JOLSON STORY

This week Loew's is presenting the long publicized musical film biography of Al Jolson. Filmed in effective Technicolor, it contains all the necessary elements to make it a top box-office attraction, the main one being the real Al Jolson's voice on the sound track. Larry Parks, who plays in the title role, imitates the stage mannerisms of that Broadway star expertly, and to the last detail, so much so that it is said the real Mr. Jolson was astonished.

Although the "Jolson Story" runs much longer than is customary for musical films, it nevertheless does not drag at any time, provided the onlooker does not tire of hearing a great number of the old Jolson favourites. Evelyn Keyes provides the love interest, which treated Mr. Jolson's real life episode with Ruby Keeler with welcoming frankness. Throughout, the film is excellent entertainment. Although some people might have been influenced from past experience against a musical biography of a still living Broadway idol, let that be no barrier to the "Jolson Story," for it is well worth seeing. —H.P.W.

"THE SHOWOFF"

The Showoff being one of Columbia's worst efforts up to date besides the thousands of westerns they have issued in the past decade does not really contain anything material, except for the clothes Miss Maxwell wears. Eddie "Rock-eater" Anderson, who has the "largest" bit-part in the film, dominates every scene with his radiant personality and "whisky-sour" voice. Red Skelton, in his comeback to the screen, does not get the chance he deserves of characterizing himself to the best advantage. The plot, including high-pressure business methods, four-car accidents and ridiculous court scenes, is what we might term "stinkeroo."

LETTER FORUM

Dear Sir,—James T. Farrell was right when he entitled one of his books "A World I Never Made". Every day in every way, one is constantly confronted with various surprising aspects of this world we never made—about which we were never even told and yet are expected to accept unquestioningly and on faith. Now, the particular aspect to which I refer is relatively small in its individual expression yet it is a reflection of the impersonal character of this world we never made.

Last Friday, I visited that ancient and acceptable institution, the Book Exchange, hoping to collect cash for a few books which I had entrusted to them. Unfortunately, the books had not been sold, so I decided to withdraw them in the hope of selling them (for less) to the sharks on Bleury and Craig St. It turned out, however, that one of the tomes was nowhere, to be found. I turned to the student in charge and asked him "What happens now?" "Nothing," he replied, "we are not responsible for books left here." I was so overwhelmed, not only by the majesty of his answer but also by the heat of that dingy cellar, that I could think of no answer and staggered speechless from the basement.

Upon my arrival home, I had recovered enough equilibrium to examine my receipt, "Q No. 463", and the only statement I could find that had any bearing on the matter was "Not Responsible to Holders After 1947". Now, if my senses do not deceive me, this is the year 1947, nor has any representative of the Book Exchange, either in print or by word of mouth, ever publicly promulgated the barbarous doctrine that the "Book Exchange is not responsible" for books left there. The book exchange is not run at a loss: 10 per cent. of the take probably more than covers the expense and it is only right that they should be responsible for anything entrusted to their hands.

I doubt very much if any of the numerous constitutions that govern various aspects of student life, including the Book Exchange, give any indication that this campus institution is to be run in such an irresponsible manner. If a fur coat is left in storage, the people who store it for you certainly are responsible; well, the Book Exchange also gets its storage fee of 10 per cent. It is a pity that the actual sum of money involved is so small for a legal acquaintance has informed me that I could legitimately seek legal redress. For, is it not obvious to all and sundry that any unscrupulous individual could, if such a principle of irresponsibility were actually the order of the day, make off with the proceeds from many books, and simply tell each individual owner, "So

Redmen Thrash Varsity Fencers; Bow to Gymnasts

McGill Swordsmen Overwhelm Toronto 36-12; Aime Pouliot Wins Individual Championship

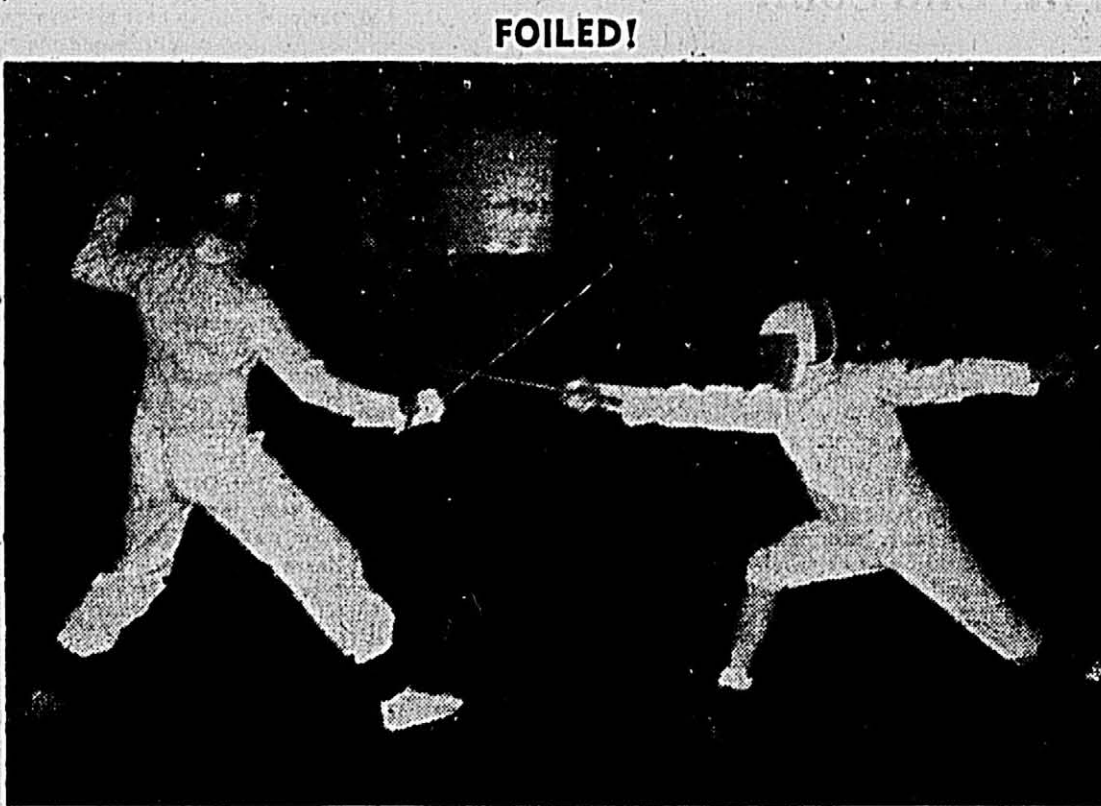

The McGill Fencing team came through Saturday night at the Sir Currie Gym with an overwhelming victory against Toronto to capture the Intercollegiate Fencing Championship by a strong 36-12 count. The Red fencers showed commanding mastery by conquering first four places with a four man team.

George Aime Pouliot of McGill took top honours in the event by winning eleven out of twelve matches and thereby copping the Intercollegiate Individual Championship. Showing precise form and fencing ability, Pouliot thrashed his opponents by winning all four of his Epee bouts and matched this stride by clicking for as complete a victory with the Sabre. He dropped his only encounter with the foil in which competition he took three out of the four matches.

Bob Moffat placed second in the competition winning ten out of his twelve contests. He copped a perfect four out of four count in foil competition, and foiled his opponents thrice each, in both epee and sabre. Third man was McGill's Peter Eakins who garnered nine out of a possible twelve points. Eakins displayed a steady type of fencing ability by grabbing three victories in each of the branches of the skilled sport.

CONN SLOW
Len Druckman held down fourth place and showed a good style as he came through for an even six victories out of twelve. He claimed one, two, and three wins in the Sabre, Foil and epee respectively. Keith Conn, Captain and top man with the Varsity squad notched five points against his Red opponents, and showed a much slower form as compared with last year when he copped the laurels and the Individual championship in Toronto last year.

In team results, the Red squad showed best in the Epee taking thirteen out of sixteen bouts. McGill garnered an even twelve out of sixteen points in the foil and fell down in the Sabre event in which Varsity managed five out of a possible sixteen wins. This was the second successive year in which Varsity bowed to the McGills, who consequently added two (Continued on Page 4)

Pictured above in action are BOB MOFFAT (right) of McGill who is in the process of adding another win to his total of four in the foil event. His competitor is CONN, Captain of the Varsity squad, whose efforts were unfortunately in vain; as the Red and White squad made the final score read 36-12 in their favor to annex the intercollegiate fencing title.

Redmen Defeat Queens in Badminton Semi-Final; Battered by Undefeated Yalermen Squashers 6-3

By BERNARD COOPER
(Daily Staff Writer.)

The champion Yale Squashmen continued their winning ways on Saturday afternoon as they defeated the McGill ball bashers 6-3 in a hard-fought meet at the Currie gymnasium. Before a crowd of approximately 200 squash enthusiasts, the Yale squad, boasting a record unparalleled in the country, was hard put in several matches and were given a surprise by the calibre of play and perseverance displayed by the Redmen. This is the 7th straight victory for the blue-boys who boast 7 lettermen of a 9-man squad. Five of the 6 of the Yale victories were won in love matches as the visiting racketmen showed too much class for the comparatively inexperienced McGill squad.

DRAKE — STAIRS

The first match to finish saw Pete Drake blank Dennis Stairs of McGill in straight games 15-6, 15-1, 15-7. Drake showed too much finesse and polish for his less seasoned opponent.

In one of the feature spectator matches, Don Farlinger of McGill edged Bruce Bayne 3 games to 2. The scores were, 10-15, 11-15, 15-13, 18-16. It was an uphill fight all the way as Farlinger was forced to take the last matches.

CULVER WINS

Another photo finish saw Dave Culver of the Red team edge Ewing Philbin 15-13, 6-15, 15-3, 11-15, 15-13. The reason only 75 people watched this match was that no more could peep over the rail. Philbin played it quite cagily, but this was one match where the McGill man showed the superiority. Culver was off his game for the first few matches, but came back in time to take the set.

Pete Blair defeated Al Gillespies of McGill in straight sets 15-9, 15-7, 16-8, while Pete Van Slyck made a clean sweep over Andy Lesmerurier by 15-9, 16-13, 18-13. Andy showed himself to be better than the scores indicate, but he fell short of winning each time.

LOVE-MATCH

Captain Pete Phillip of the Blues made another clean slate over Al Ward 15-7, 15-4, 15-8. Phillip showed himself more masterful in all phases of the game to take the decision.

Guy MacFarlane of McGill went down to defeat before the lambasting racket of Carl Badgers to the tune of 15-0, 15-1, 15-7. Here again, experience told the story.

LANDRY LOSES

Pete Landry, Provincial Singles Champion, went out to meet the foe in the person of Cater Ferguson, one of the most feared players in New England. Before a packed house (so packed that your reporter had to watch, swinging from the rafters... yes, yes, man descended from the monkeys) Landry took the first game; but was finally downed in an extremely thrilling contest. The scores were 5-15, 17-15, 12-15, 15-4, 15-3; and as a sidelight it may be noted that, according to the Yale manager, this is the first time this year that Ferguson has gone the limit in a match to take an opponent.

COLQUHOUN

The final match of the day saw Bob Colquhoun edge Doug Kerr, another top flight lockpicker (but Fink! Yale is the name of a lock) in one of the tightest contests of the day. Scores were 15-13, 15-7, 15-11, 12-15, 16-15, as Bob had to win the rubber match in extra points.

All-in-all, the Yalermen were surprised at the difficulty encountered

Aggies Tie Dawson

3-3 In Puck Clash

By J. E. GRIFFIN

Playing under adverse weather conditions, the Dawson and Mac-

Donald intermediate hockey squads played to a 3-3 tie Saturday afternoon in a scheduled intercollegiate game. As a result, both teams remain unbeaten and are tied in the league standings, each with five points.

The game was played in the open-air rink at MacDonald college, and heavy snow, falling all afternoon, made puck-carrying almost impossible. It was only during the first few minutes of each period, with the ice freshly scraped, that the game resembled a hockey match.

Another disappointment was the officiating; both teams exclaimed their disapproval with the men in white, who were apparently determined to keep the game clean.

In four of the matches, McGill is the first Yale opponent this year to win more than two games. We may well be proud of our squashers.

The Intercollegiate Hockey game which was scheduled against Bishop's College on Saturday was cancelled because of the fact that Bishop's

termediate intercollegiate

Humphrey of U. of T. Stars in Gymnastics At Currie Gym.

By now, you've probably read that the McGill squad won the fencing title over the weekend to cop the intercollegiate championship, but the Red and White gymnastic stalwarts weren't quite as fortunate as they were defeated by the Varsity squad approximately 4,300 to 3,700 points in the final standings. Accurate results were unobtainable at press time last night due to the fact that none of the officials scoring the meet could be contacted.

Both the Varsity and McGill squads each boasted six men and each man on the respective squads performed on the high bars, parallel bars, mats and either the horse or the rings as desired. On the Championship Blues team were Laxton, Geary, Humphrey, Johnson, Gibson, and Bee. Sporting the Red and White colors were Marsland, Cochrane, Barrett, Henderson, King and Kitchins.

HIGH BAR
In the high bar event, Humphrey of the Varsity squad pulled down top honors, and was closely followed by his team-mates Laxton and Johnson in the second and third spots respectively.

It was in the parallel bars event that the McGill crew were successful in obtaining their only first of the entire afternoon's activities. This accomplishment came through the efforts of Marsland, who led Bee and Laxton of the Varsity squad.

In the next event, the competitors had the choice of displaying their wares on either the horse or rings, and once more Humphrey of the Varsity squad was successful in garnering first place on the horse. Marsland and Cochrane, both of the McGill aggregate placed second and third, while performing on the rings.

MAT COMPETITION
The Blues' squad once more copped top honors when the mats underwent a series of forward and backward rolls as performed by the gymnasts of the two squads. In

Gael's Cagers Lose 2 Games Over Weekend

Aye, the bonnie lads of Queen's have had themselves a very unfortunate week-end. Aye, that they have, what with two losses in as many days. The Western cagers trimmed them 77-25 (yes, that's seventy-seven) and the Toronto Varsity Quintet did a similar performance with a 44-31 score.

SCORGIE TERRIFIC

Western's Scorgie's twelve baskets and three free throws were enough to trim the Gael's by themselves and break a London individual high scoring record. However his good hearted teammates helped him out with another even fifty. The Western sharpshooters held a 28-11 half-time lead, added 30 points in the first ten minutes of the last half, and from there on they let it ride—like taking candy from a baby.

Reds Play Westmount Floor Hockey Tonight

Tonight at 7.30 in the Gym, the McGill Floor Hockey team will play an exhibition game against the Westmount High Champions. Coach Lou Davies tells us that his Westmount boys, though younger, play a rough game — which should indicate a real battle.

There will be 200 chairs in the Gym at the spectators disposal. A large group of fans are coming from Westmount High, and it is hoped that a good number of fellas and gals from McGill will be on hand to cheer for their team.

U. of M. Blues Draw 4-4 In Overtime Play

The U. of M. Carabins pulled the most startling surprise of the intercollegiate hockey year by holding the powerful U. of T. Blues to a four-all draw at the Vardun Auditorium on Saturday night. The Blue and Gold from over the mountain were fighting all the way, and twice came from behind to knot the count.

Easily the best man on the ice was Jean Paul Gignac, the Shawinigan strong boy, who paced his team with two smart goals and played about 40 minutes of brilliant hockey. Little Mercier in the Carabins cage, also turned up with a sensational performance, sometimes somewhat tinged with luck, and was a major factor in holding the Torontonians.

U. OF M. LEAD

The Montrealers started off on the right foot by sinking two quick tallies in the opening stages of the game, but, by 10:47 of the middle stanza the Blues had forged into a one-goal lead. Gignac brought the locals onto even terms only to see (Continued on Page 4)

McGill Inters, Loyola In Cage Tilt Tonight

Tonight at 8.00 P.M., the Currie Gymnasium will be the scene of a hard fought cage tilt, when the cellar ridden Loyola Intermediates take on the McGills in an effort to climb higher in the league standings.

As it stands, both Loyola and the Georgians are tied for the bottom rung with 4 points apiece. The game to be played tonight to make up for a tilt which was postponed previously in the season, due to unforeseen circumstances will feature such stalwarts as Mickey Davine and Lou Zalkind who were serious contenders for a place in the Intercollegiate Senior squad. Also out there to keep the Redmen in second place will be Elio, Lenier, Dikofsky and Dougherty.

Red Wrestlers Are Victorious At Champlain

The McGill wrestling team has added another brilliant victory for their Alma-Mater at the first inter-collegiate competition "south of the border." Our team, directed by manager Sherwin Raymond defeated the strong muscle-men of Champlain College by the score of 21 to 8.

"EXCITING EVENT."

Under the eyes of a large American crowd, our mat-men have exhibited the fine wrestling technique that coach Frank Saxon has taught them. The festival started in a dazzling way with the new 125 lb. Don Hillman who pinned his opponent after only 8.4 secs. The next fighter was tough 165 lb. Jim McLeod who won after a close fight. Then came two more winners for our team: 135 lb. Sherwin Raymond and 145 lb. Jim Stafford. They each had a long fight to win over sturdy men.

DAWSON DISPLAY

Our new 165 lb. Tex Dawson followed to display one of the best fights of the day; he lost by a judge decision. Just as he was pinning his opponent, the signal stopped the fight. Joe Ouellet 175 lb. from Dawson College, was unfortunately unable to fight as he got too heavy after the big meal they served us. The meet finished with our rugged Wally Kowal who got his heavyweight opponent in a tight hold.

The team is leaving to participate in a new meet scheduled for Tuesday night at Springfield College, Mass.

Dents Defeat Artsmen; Puck Tilts End Soon

The Artsmen certainly had a tough time on Friday when they dropped a closely fought 4-3 hockey game to the determined Dents after hectic overtime play. Gallant and Turner turned in stellar games accounting for half of the Teethers points with Charnon netting the twine for the other two.

The game between the Engineers and the Lawyers proved to be far less exciting, with the slide rule artists trimming the courtsmen 7-2.

THE END

Regular league play terminates this week, and out of the eight teams registered, four will partake in the semi-finals. The first place team will play the third team, in a one game sudden death series. This procedure will also be followed by the second and fourth place sextets. In case two squads are tied for any particular place in the standings, the total points for and against the teams will be considered.

FORUM ICE.

The finals will take place between the winners in a two-game total points' series. All arrangements possible are being made to have the finals played on Forum ice.

To round out regular league play, there are still four games to be played. Today, at five, Commerce takes on Medicine in the first game, and at six, it's Arts vs. Eng.

The last two games will be played on Tuesday when at five o'clock Dents and Law take to the ice; Meds face off with Phys. Eds. at six.

H. C. F. SHATAN.

Dear Sir,—I should like to voice my support of the sentiments expressed by the Daily's movie reviewer on Friday last. It is, indeed, an insult to the intelligence of the movie-going public the way recent British films have been wantonly slashed into incoherence. I use the term "slashed" as neither "editing" nor "cutting" can adequately describe this obviously pointless action.

No doubt the Provincial Censor reasoned that anything in the films which rises above the standard morose level (so strictly adhered to by the "Hollywood" "epics"), should be deleted in order to provide not too great a contrast.

Now that British films are receiving wider distribution in this city, I feel that they should be allowed to handing out penalties for even the slightest infractions of the rules. No less than 23 sentences to the sin bin were called.

Dawson opened up as if they meant to walk away with the game. Inside of 30 seconds Phil Henry had converted a 3-way passing play into a beautiful goal. Miro "Rocket" Bozich relayed Dave Hackett's pass to Henry in front of the net, and the mustachioed playing-coach made no mistake. Hackett made it 2-0 a little later, when his shot from behind the net was deflected in off goalie Nason's skate.

MacDonald got back in the game when presented with a gift goal. Dawson's Bern Brophy, in attempting to clear a loose puck, tipped it into his own cage. Bill Ritchie received credit for the marker.

Though playing one man short, the Blueshirts increased their lead to 3-1 in the middle session when Henry counted again on Bozich's pass. Don Whitaker cut down the lead when he broke through the Dawson defence to beat Phil Layton completely. MacDonald College pressed in the final period and finally tied the score when Don Whitaker rang up his second tally. The same teams meet again on Wednesday when the Dawson crew will play hosts.

Tickets for the Ball priced at $2.00, may be obtained from any member of the French Society executive; at the Janitor's office, Arts Building; and at the Tuck Shop.

The McGills took a busman's holiday and took in the Varsity-U. of M. game the following night, lustily urging on the Carabins.

and the winners ran up the count quite rapidly. Davidson was again "high guy" for the Redmen with 12 tallies, while Bloom collected 11 points. Duford turned in swell performances in both tilts, as did Bud Fraser and Ken Hoyle. Leading men for "Lambasting Laries" were Macdonald with 16, and O'Rourke, Van Slyke and Lawrence, each with 10.

And as one McGill player put it: "Anyways, we learned something."

Redmen would measure up to Dartmouth again as they all had good times on the first run except for Ken Thomas who tangled up in a flush a drew a penalty. However it was apparent that the second run would be more difficult when former Olympic skier Ted Hunter realigned the flags and then got into trouble as he foreran his own course.

The Dartmouth and Middlebury skiers took the hint and slowed down through the tricky hairpins but for the Redmen Don Stanforth and John Tyler both fell and were penalized for knocking over flags. Art Bruneau saved the team from disaster at this juncture as he made another steady run to place ninth in the slalom with 95.5. Dartmouth's Malcolm McClane came first with total score of 85 secs.

SWISS STYLE
Highlight of the slalom, which was witnessed by over 1,000 spectators was the stylish skiing of the Swiss team. Eddie Rominger had the crowd gasping as he cut three seconds of the best American time in both his runs, and when Karl Moliter's turn came he was obviously out to beat his teammate. He did it by a split second the first try but a penalty in the second run spoiled his chances.

When the day's results were computed Dartmouth was leading by a comfortable sixteen point margin while the Redmen had a slim four point edge on Middlebury for second place.

Following a night of conjecture, the crosscountry men swung into action on Friday morning on an eight mile course. Phil Deane of Middlebury won this even in 64.25 while Don Stanforth loped in two minutes later to capture second place. The Dartmouth Indians held the next three positions to win this event well. Baz Davis was seventh, Kaare Olsen was twelfth and Ted Pope eighteenth as McGill placed third, with Middlebury as runner up.

THE JUMP

Everything now depended on the jump as to whether the Redmen could wrest the second position from Middlebury squad for by now a Dartmouth seemed well out of reach. John Foster, McGill's top jumper, cleared 118 feet, the longest of the competition but unfortunately fell on landing and ended up 28th in spite of a second leap which was good for 113 feet and 102 points. Wilbur Bull of Dartmouth won top individual honours in this event with a total score of 203.8 points. Blonde Karre Olsen jumped 106 and 110 feet for fourth place and a point total of 192.5 while Ted Pope came ninth with 186.3. The Middlebury skiers won this event as they took second and third individual positions. Dartmouth came second in the jump and thus won the Carnival cup with Middlebury in the runner-up position and McGill third.

The title of Ski Meister for the best standing in four events went to Don Henderson of Middlebury, who placed sixth in downhill and cross country and second in jumping and slalom.

SUICIDE SCHUSS

On Sunday the Redmen journeyed to Sleds Six schuss at Woodstock to compete in the annual Fisk trophy. In the downhill event Baz Davis was top McGill man as he ran the steep hill in 37.6 seconds to take seventh place in a field of over a hundred. Don Stanforth placed tenth with 38.4 secs., while Andy Hugessen was 17th with 40.1. Ted Pope, Ken Thomas, George Riley and Art Bruneau also ran in this event but failed to qualify for the slalom which was limited to the first 30 in the downhill.

In the afternoons' slalom, Don Stanforth ran the course in 1.16 secs while Hugessen was 1.25 and Davis 2.01.

MAYZEL STARS

The Tricolor-Varsity game on Saturday proved to be very ragged, with poor passing the main feature for both squads. At first it looked as though the Queensmen were going to register an upset as they were predominant in the early phases of play, with a slight lead. This was probably due to the tight Gael zone defence which the Blues had a little trouble in penetrating at first. However the tables turned as soon as Mayzel of Varsity got through the defence, and used his good old shooting eye to rack up ten points for the Varsity Blues.

The meeting will be held open to all interested.

STUDENT LABOR CLUB

Tonight at 8 p.m. the Student Labor Club is sponsoring a symposium on the subject "Labor Looks at World Peace." The meeting will take place at 8 p.m. in the Union Grill Room and is open to all interested students. Four well known speakers are being featured at the symposium. Leslie Roberts, author and journalist, Jean Marie Bedard, Quebec regional director of the Canadian Congress of Labour, Rev. Alex Cameron, secretary of the Quebec Committee for the Defence of Trade Union Rights, and Professor O. Hall of the Department of Sociology at McGill.

Recent months have seen an intensification on this continent of the flood of rumor and propaganda designed to create a favorable atmosphere for the launching of a Third World War. The Student Labor Club believes that activity such as this meeting is a practical step towards stimulating students to take their place in the fight for peace.

The labor speaker Mr. Bedard is one of the best known trade union leaders in the province of Quebec. Mr. Bedard will express a conviction tion general throughout the labor movement, that working people have an especial interest in the fight for peace since they are the first to suffer in the event of war. This is especially true in Canada which is the most probable battlefield if the disaster of another World War should occur again.
